28 November 1983

Tom Cormack
Executive Secretary

History Staff Bi-Weekly

Most members of the staff took some holiday leave during this period. We are back to a full work force today. We also received our two additional Wang work stations and a new printer to replace the defective one.

Ken met with [redacted], at the latter's initiative to discuss the implications of the proposed exemptions for CIA in the new FOIA legislation. The particular aspects considered involved the selective review of Agency materials looking to the public release of documents of historical interest and the respective roles of DDA and of the History Staff in such a review. Ken also looked at a memo on the subject prepared by [redacted] C/OIS.
